FINANCE ITEMS

President Podell and Vice President Buckley reported that Fall 2020 FTE enrollment is down 9.8% compared to Fall 2019. (The FY2021 budget projected a 15% decline.) The state appropriation for the entire fiscal year is still unknown. The College is currently operating within the FY2021 budget, but there is concern about how things will look in FY22.

Vice President Buckley reported the following:

FY2021 Budget vs. Actual Comparison Report as of August

As of the meeting date, Fall 2020 student tuition and fee revenues are down 9.8%, as compared to Fall 2019. The budgeted yearly net revenue is $34,335,000. Actual net revenue through August 31, 2020, is $9,241,000, compared to a projected budget net revenue of $10,302,000, resulting in an unfavorable variance of approximately $1,061,000. This number is expected to improve as students are still registering and paying. The state appropriation through the end of October is the same as last year.

Vice President Buckley reviewed enrollment and fee data for the other 14 community colleges. Declines range from 2.2% to 21%. The average fee increase was $6 per credit. MassBay is in the middle of the group on both items. The five community colleges which had no fee increase appear to be the ones with the greatest financial challenges. Vice President Buckley reminded the Board of its decision to roll $550,000 of last year’s surplus to FY21.

The budgeted FY2021 operating expense totals $34,085,000. A further $250,000 is budgeted for locally funded capital expenses bringing the total budgeted expenses to $34,335,000. The August expense budget is based on a three-year average of spending through August 31. Actual expense through August 31 before capital expenses is $4,660,000 compared to a projected budget of $5,098,000, resulting in a favorable variance of approximately $438,000. Adjunct expenses are up with better than expected summer enrollment. Other expenses are within budget. Certain costs, such as catering, energy, and student transportation, have decreased. The College will likely save more, given it does not plan to return non-lab courses, student services, and business operations to campus until May at the earliest. If enrollment drops more in the spring than currently projected, the College has a cushion in reserves and could reduce personnel expenses. Vice President Buckley concluded by saying that the College is expected to get through FY2021 in good financial shape but that FY2022 may be a challenge.

MOTION: Trustee Schmalensee moved to approve the Budget vs. Actual Report as of August 2020, and Trustee Thorne seconded. The motion passed via the following roll call vote: Trustee Kahn – YES; Trustee Lassiter – YES; Trustee Lish – YES; Chair Peisch – YES; Trustee Pyrtel – YES; Trustee Schmalensee – YES; Trustee Silva – YES; and Trustee Thorne – YES.

Student Accounts Receivable and Cash Comparison Report

Vice President Buckley reported that receivables are down 11%. Overall, the College’s cash is up $1.1 million as of the end of August ($20.7 million versus $18.1 million last year). The CARES Act funding has helped. Vice President Buckley pointed out that students often register late and are still doing so now.

The monthly cash position for August was reviewed.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Presidential Evaluation

Committee Chair Lish reported that the final Presidential Evaluation has been submitted to Higher Education Commissioner Santiago. She thanked all members of the committee for their work.

Student Success

Committee Chair Lassiter reported that two presentations on online and remote instruction were given at the last meeting. Faculty shared information on how they are teaching in the online and remote environments, and staff shared information about the training they have provided to faculty and students on using technology for teaching and learning.

SPECIAL REPORT

Advising in the Remote Environment

The President introduced Associate Dean for Student Success Williams and Director of Advising Salerno, who presented on how the Advising Center and its professional advisors have adapted their work to the remote environment required because of the pandemic. President Podell stressed advising is the key to student retention and academic success.

Associate Dean Williams reported that going remote was a big challenge for Advising, as most contact in the past had been in person. Before COVID-19, the Advising Center was open Monday through Friday from 8:00 am to 6:00 pm, and had professional academic advisors available for scheduled appointments or walk-in assistance. The Center had an annual average of 12,000 student visits per calendar year. In March, it began with phone and email services and by July the Center was using Microsoft Teams and Webex. However, the Center noted a 35% decrease in contact.

Consequently, the Center worked with IT and Marketing to create and promote a link to a new system for students to be able to meet with advisors as soon as possible (sometimes on demand), to better meet students’ needs during what is for most a stressful time. Zoom was the best match for providing an online Advising Center. The advising team was trained on how to use this technology and, on August 17, the virtual Advising Drop-In Center opened. Feedback was immediately positive. Students enjoyed being able to share their screens, get immediate answers, and be ready for their next steps. After implementing the Virtual Advising Center, the decrease in student visits went from 35% to 15%. In order to have enough staff available to work with students, 12 colleagues from other departments also served as advisors in the Virtual Advising Center assisting students, which was a big help during the peak period in August. Wait times to see an advisor were, at most, 30-40 minutes.

Director Salerno also reported on the development of a MassBay Q&A Center so students could meet face-to-face with a staff member via Zoom. Students went to this site here for assistance with technology, textbooks, scholarships, payment plans, and to get answer to general questions. Having a place to refer students helped advisors be more effective and efficient. Director Salerno also noted that staff have reported feeling a greater sense of community and a better work/life balance since the implementation of the Center. The Coaching Commons is also being added, so Success Coaches are easily accessible. In addition, all student workshops, faculty trainings, and other group gatherings will take place in the Virtual Center.

Chair Peisch commended Associate Dean Williams Director Salerno and her team on a remarkable accomplishment.
